
The Fox Center
for Humanistic Inquiry

Application Deadline
April 8, 2024

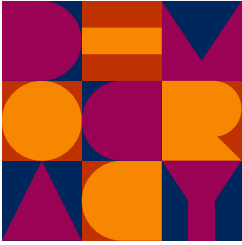

The Fox Center for Humanistic Inquiry will award up to twelve Undergraduate Fellowships to support students completing honors projects in a Humanities or Humanistic Social Science field. The goal of these Fellowships is to support undergraduates as they complete their theses, introduce them to the life of the Humanities, and provide a venue for interdisciplinary interchange, mentorship, and conference-style presentation. The Center's theme for 2024-25 is Democracy: Past, Present, Future. We especially encourage projects that engage with the theme.

Undergraduate Humanities Honors Fellows are awarded a $1000 stipend to help support their research and writing. Honors Fellows register for the Fox Center's Honors Seminar ECS 470 (1 credit hour). The seminar will meet from 4-6 pm on September 11, October 9, November 6, and November 27 (dates subject to revision).

Honors Fellows will participate in Fox Center's academic programming and the FCHI Undergraduate conference. Fellows will also be offered other immersive opportunities to experience the vibrant intellectual and cultural environment of the humanities through activities such as visits to a museum, theater performance, film screening, etc. Every honors student will submit their completed thesis to the Center. In addition, the Fellows will receive mentorship and access to a dedicated writing space in the Fox Center for Humanistic Inquiry beginning in the fall and continuing throughout the year. The Fellowship begins the first day of the Fall semester and runs through Commencement. Students must be part of the Honors Program of the Emory College of Arts and Sciences. Honors Fellows are expected to graduate in May 2025.

Monday, April 8, 2024, is the deadline for submission of applications and all supporting documents. A complete application consists of the Application form, Project Description, CV, and an Emory transcript, and must be emailed to foxcenter@emory.edu. The Advisor's Letter of Recommendation needs to be emailed directly to foxcenter@emory.edu. It is the applicant's responsibility to ensure that all materials, including letters of recommendation, reach the FCHI by the deadline. Incomplete applications will not be considered after the deadline.

Announcements of awards begin mid-April 2024.
